1. Why EQTC?

The European Quantum Technology Conference presents a unique opportunity for bringing together people working across the quantum technology sector, uniting policy makers, business representatives and the scientific community.

It's a hub of knowledge

The three-day conference is packed with high-level keynotes, panels, lectures, workshops and more. You will get the most recent updates from Europe's groundbreaking quantum projects from all domains

There is unrivalled visibility and awareness

At the heart of the community and supported through media operations throughout the year, speakers and sponsors benefit from the highest degree of visibility on the event circuit

It's the ultimate meeting spot

As the annual showcase of the European Quantum Flagship and the flourishing European quantum ecosystem, the EQTC brings together today's leaders and the next generation of innovators from science, industry and policy, strengthening old and creating new connections for the next breakthroughs – with up to 600 attendees on-site

2. Event venue

Øksnehallen

Located in the heart of Copenhagen, Øksnehallen is closely connected to public transport by the Central Station, connecting the venue to both the Copenhagen Airport and the rest of the city through the Metro-line
